

IRP Community Connect

Volume Three | August 2019

Meet Our Sponsors

The reach and impact that the Integrated Renewal Program has far extends the Point Grey campus, with partnerships and staff located at the Okanagan region. The anticipated changes required to create a brighter future with Workday – from education and research to advanced technology and new partnerships – involves collaboration between the two campuses. Robert Einarson, Associate Vice-President of Finance and Operations at UBC Okanagan shared his insights on how the Okanagan campus is gearing up for Workday.

Did You Know...

Currently, time tracking and absence are handled in multiple systems. Here's how Workday will improve that:

Primary system for absence use by all staff, and will replace Personal Absence Tracker (PAT)

Can be used on both desktop and mobile devices, and does not require a VPN

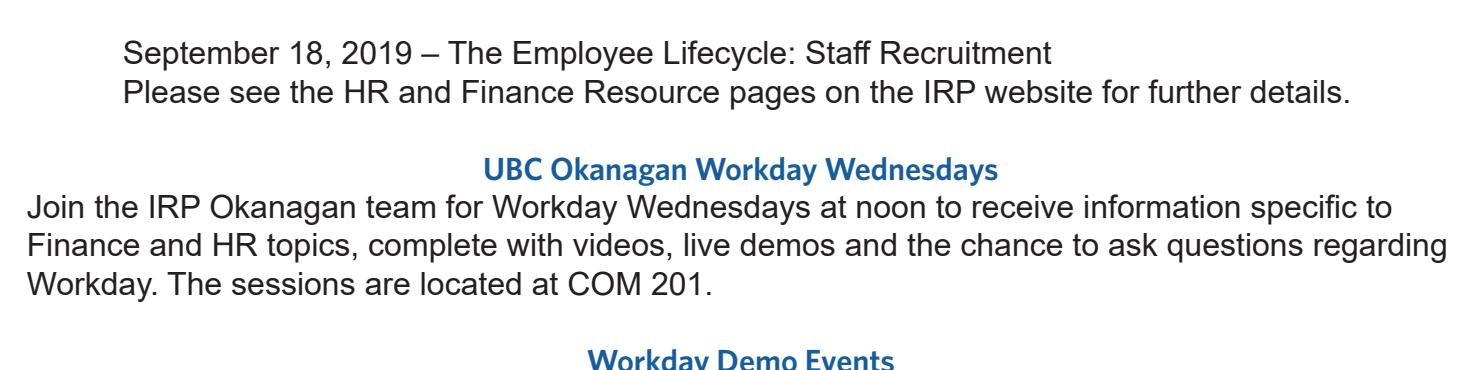

One stop shop for sick time, vacation, and all other absence balances

Paper time sheets no longer required

Transforming our systems and processes to improve how we collaborate and innovate.

People & Change: Faculty of Medicine

With more than 4,500 medical and health professional trainees spread across the province, the scale and breadth of UBC's Faculty of Medicine is extensive. Representing the only Faculty of Medicine in British Columbia, embracing new models of partnership is key to its success.

In recent years, the Faculty has welcomed collaborations with the Integrated Renewal Program (IRP) and the adoption of the UBC's new HR and Finance system, Workday.
